Job Description

ACADEMIC FACULTY APPOINTMENT: Lee Kong Chian School of Medicine

Post-Doc position for Team-Based Learning (TBL) research in medical education.

Key Responsibilities

Job Purpose:

The post-holder will have a major role in conducting TBL research leading to publications in top-tier journals.

Primary Responsibilities/Activities

The appointee will take a central role in conducting TBL research in collaboration with the members of the research team. The main objective of the role is to help establish a TBL research programme by publishing the research findings in high-impact journals.

Requirements

Necessary:

- PhD in psychology or education
- Publications in top-tier journals
- Strong background in research methodology and statistical data analysis

Desirable:

- Experience in experimental research
- Experience in project management
- Mplus

This job description is not intended to be all inclusive and the appointee will be expected to also perform other reasonable duties as assigned by the Dean and/or his/her nominee.

Time Commitment:

The level of effort for this appointment is at 1.0 full time equivalent (FTE) employment.